Catherine Tate – The tired mother

Look, A is for “Apple”...yum...yum, and for “Airplane”.

T is for “Train” and also for “Tired”.

H is for “Haven’t slept in weeks” and “House”. That’s right, darling, because mummy doesn’t sleep anymore, does she, Molly?

N is for “No sleep for mummy”.

R, what’s R for, sweetheart? You know what R is for? It’s for “Rabbit”, floppy floppy bunny rabbit and “Really need to go to bed”.

P is for “Parents”.

F is “For ever”.

K, well K can be loud, like “Kayak” or silent, as in “Knackered”.

I is for “Igloo”, that’s where the Eskimos live, and also for “I need to sleep so much I could vomit”.

B is for “Bags under the eyes”.

E is for “Exhaustion” and “Eternal suffering ever more”. And “Elephant”.
